

Satellite radio is truly an application of technology at its' best. XM provides what I want, when I want it, where I want it. I am very willing to pay for these services and it's an excellent example of American capitalism. It would be a violation of my rights as a paying customer to restrict my access to information such as traffic and weather reports. I believe the NAB should stop trying to restrict competition and innovation through legislative channels. I urge the FCC to reject NAB's petition 04-160.
